The image consists of three separate photographs of the Enlène Cave (Grotte du Fau) in France. The leftmost photograph shows a wide view of a large, dimly lit cave chamber with various rock formations and stalactites, illuminated by blue and red spotlights. The middle photograph is a close-up of a large, orange, bulbous rock formation, possibly a stalactite, hanging from the ceiling, with a smaller, more pointed formation below it. The rightmost photograph shows a close-up of a rock wall covered in colorful, abstract patterns and textures, illuminated by green and yellow lights.
